LETTER FROM CEO

Dear Renown Colleague,

Renown Health has been taking care of northern Nevadans for generations and has been an integral part of the community for more than 150 years. We pride ourselves on quality care, which means providing safe, accessible, evidence-based, patient-centered care while focusing on continuous improvement for the best outcome for our patients and community. Renown embraces the Triple Aim approach to healthcare – improving the individual experience of care; improving the health of populations; and reducing the per capita costs of care for populations. This is accomplished by establishing quality processes focused on clinical excellence, patient safety, care coordination, and regulatory compliance.

Renown has a comprehensive Compliance Program and Code of Conduct that not only adhere to federal guidelines, but is also a vital part of our organization's culture related to our Triple Aim approach. Because this rests on our foundation, this level of integrity has become incorporated into our approach to caring for our patients, our communities, and our colleagues. Our organization aggressively pursues its goal that all business activities are in compliance with applicable laws and regulations.

The Compliance Program sets forth Renown's programmatic approach to compliance and is supplemented annually with a Compliance and Audit Work Plan. The Code of Conduct contains resources to help resolve any questions about appropriate conduct in the work place to uphold the integrity of the organization. Please review it thoroughly. Your observance to its contents is absolutely critical to Renown.

If you have questions regarding this document or encounter any situation that you believe violates the Compliance Program or provisions of the Code of Conduct, please contact the Chief Compliance Officer at 775-982-5596, your supervisor, Compliance Liaison, or call the Compliance Hotline 800-611-5097. You may also file a report on the Confidential Reporting Form found on the Corporate Compliance web page on Renown's intranet, Inside Renown. You have our personal assurance there will be no retaliation for, in good faith, asking questions or raising concerns, or for reporting possible improper conduct.

Thank you for your dedication to Renown and helping ensure that the integrity of operations is upheld to the highest standard for our colleagues, patients, and the community.

Sincerely,

Anthony D. Slonim, MD, DrPH
President and CEO, Renown Health

RENOWN COMPLIANCE PROGRAM

I. Introduction

Renown Health (“Renown”) is committed to providing high quality care in compliance with all applicable state and federal laws and regulations, professional and ethical Codes of Conduct, and Renown policies and procedures. To that end, Renown has implemented a Compliance Program (“the Program”) to demonstrate its commitment to preventing and detecting fraud, waste and abuse. The Program establishes guidelines for ensuring all Renown business is conducted in an honest and ethical manner.

The Program was developed based on the Federal Sentencing Guidelines, guidance from the Office of Inspector General (“OIG”) and applicable federal and state laws and regulations. All employees, physicians, medical staff, agents, Board members, and contractors (collectively “employees”) are responsible for understanding how these laws and regulations affect their jobs and for performing their jobs in a manner consistent with the law, professional and ethical Codes of Conduct, and all Renown policies and ethical standards. This Compliance Program Document is a fundamental part of the Program and details Renown’s compliance efforts. Compliance policies and procedures will expand upon the topics addressed in the Compliance Program Document.

The Program recognizes that certain services in an integrated delivery system may have additional Compliance requirements. For example, a Health Plan contracted with the Center for Medicare Services has specific requirements that are set forth in supplemental policies and procedures.

II. Laws and Regulations

Renown and its employees are required to comply with a wide range of federal and state laws and regulations, including the requirements for participating in state and federally funded health care programs. Renown devotes significant resources to ensure compliance with these laws, regulations and requirements. The Program is designed to address fraud and abuse laws, false statements and false claims, privacy and security, and Medicare and Medicaid requirements. The health care laws and regulations that apply to Renown’s business activities include, but are not limited to:

- Anti-Kickback Statute
- Civil Monetary Penalties (“CMP”) Act
- Emergency Medical Treatment and Active Labor Act (“EMTALA”)
- Federal False Claims Act (FCA)
- Fraud Enforcement and Recovery Act of 2009 (FERA)
- Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (“HIPAA”)
- Health Information Technology for Economic and Clinical Health (“HITECH”) Act
- Nevada Submission of False Claims to State or Local Government Act
- Physician Self-Referral (“Stark”) Law, and
- Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (ACA)

Employees violating these laws, regulations or requirements not only risk individual criminal prosecution and penalties, civil penalties, and administrative exclusion but also subject Renown to the same risks and penalties. Any employee who violates a law, regulation or requirement may be subject to disciplinary action up to and including termination of employment. Employees also have a duty to report any suspected violation of law, regulation or other requirement to their supervisor, manager, the Chief Compliance Officer, Compliance Liaison, the Confidential Reporting Form found on the Corporate Compliance web page on Inside Renown, and/or the Compliance Hotline (800-611-5097).

III. Structure – Chief Compliance Officer, System Divisions, and the Audit and Compliance Committee.

Compliance starts at the highest level of Renown and shall be an active part of the business culture. Renown’s Board of Directors and the President and CEO of Renown shall have joint authority to appoint and terminate a Chief Compliance Officer (“Chief Compliance Officer”), who is ultimately responsible and accountable for creating and maintaining a comprehensive approach to ensuring compliance with federal and state regulations and Renown policies. The Chief Compliance Officer shall administratively report to the President and CEO of Renown and provide an update to the Board annually, at a minimum, on the state of the Program.

The Chief Compliance Officer is responsible for the day-to-day operation and oversight of Program activities. The Chief Compliance Officer will oversee the implementation and maintenance of the Program and all Renown compliance policies, compliance education and training, auditing and monitoring activities, and resolution of compliance issues. The Chief Compliance Officer shall have access to all documents and information related to compliance activities and may seek advice from General Counsel or retain consultants or experts, when necessary. The Chief Compliance Officer may request additional staff, as deemed necessary, to assist in the performance of compliance activities.

System Divisions

The Chief Compliance Officer will work with leaders in Renown’s System Divisions to ensure consistent application of the Compliance Program throughout Renown. The System Divisions include Acute Care, Transitional Care, Hometown Health and the Network. The Chief Compliance Officer will work with these System Divisions to ensure consistent application of compliance standards and Renown's vision throughout the organization. Representatives from all System Divisions will work with the Chief Compliance Officer to develop and execute a Compliance and Audit Work Plan ("Work Plan"). The Work Plan will be based on an annual risk assessment; the risk assessment will be performed using the OIG Work Plan, government enforcement trends, internally identified risk areas, and other compliance resources. Hometown Health maintains its own Compliance Committee.

Compliance Liaisons

The Chief Compliance Officer will appoint Compliance Liaisons to assist in the integration of compliance throughout Renown and to serve as a departmental-level resource for employees. The Compliance Liaisons will provide support in executing compliance initiatives within the facilities and will report to the Chief Compliance Officer regarding compliance related topics.

Audit and Compliance Committee

The Audit and Compliance Committee is a Committee of the Board and is charged with the governance of Audit and Compliance matters. The Audit and Compliance Committee shall include members of senior management and members of the Board and will meet on a regular basis. The Audit and Compliance Committee shall provide oversight of the Audit and Compliance Department activities which include, but are not limited to, evaluating problems encountered, identifying potential areas of concern, and initiating corrective action, as appropriate.

IV. Written Policies and Procedures

All Renown business must be conducted in accordance with federal, state and local laws and regulations, rules of professional conduct, applicable state and federally funded health care program regulations, and Renown policies. The Renown Code of Conduct and compliance policies and procedures will serve as the foundation for operations and to create the standards for employees. Employees shall be responsible for understanding and complying with the standards that govern their legal and ethical conduct in performing their daily tasks.

The Renown Code of Conduct and compliance policies:

- Describe compliance expectations
- Provide guidance to employees and others on dealing with potential compliance issues
- Identify how to appropriately report compliance issues and
- Describe how potential compliance problems will be investigated and resolved

The Code of Conduct and compliance policies are not intended to cover every situation that may be encountered, Employees are expected to comply with all applicable laws and regulations whether they are specifically addressed by policy or not. Any questions or concerns about the employee's legal or ethical responsibilities should be directed to the employee's supervisor, manager/director, Compliance Liaison, or the Chief Compliance Officer. Laws and regulations frequently change. As such, the Code of Conduct and compliance policies will be reviewed and updated annually, or as needed. Any changes to a policy will be communicated to employees in a timely manner, and a copy of the revised policy will be made available for review.

V. Education and Training

All employees will receive a copy of the Compliance Program and Code of Conduct. Additionally, a copy of the Compliance Program Document, Code of Conduct and all compliance-related policies and procedures will be placed in a central repository accessible to all employees on the Inside Renown website. Employees are encouraged to read the Compliance Program Document in its entirety and ask questions, if needed, to better understand the Program and their individual responsibilities.

All Renown employees are required to complete compliance education upon new hire and on a continuing basis, at least annually. Completion of annual compliance education will be documented in the employee's record and will be required as part of the employee's annual performance evaluation.

Employees whose job duties may affect Renown's regulatory compliance will receive additional, job-specific training, as indicated. This specialized training may focus on complex areas or on areas that the Chief Compliance Officer has determined pose a high risk.

In addition, the Board shall receive annual compliance education. Education provided to the Board shall focus on the Program and the duties and responsibilities of the Board.

VI. Auditing and Monitoring

Renown will conduct periodic audits to identify potential deficiencies in its systems and processes, including the claim development and submission processes and Renown's various physician arrangements. Renown will implement audit procedures designed primarily to determine accuracy and validity of coding and billing submitted to Medicare, Medicaid, other federal and state health care programs and other payers, and to detect any instances of potential misconduct. Renown will also implement audit procedures designed to determine the accuracy, validity, and viability of its contractual arrangements with community and employed physicians. Renown will use identified areas for improvement in the annual update of compliance education and training.

Auditors and reviewers shall have appropriate access to information and documents necessary to complete their review. Auditors and reviewers shall also maintain the confidentiality of the information received. The Chief Compliance Officer will receive the results of all audits and will provide summary reports to the Audit and Compliance Steering Committee, and the Audit and Compliance Committee of the Board. Based on the results of the audits, if applicable, repayment will occur within the required timeframe based on CMS requirements and/or payor contracts. Based on the results of physician arrangement audits, recommendations regarding contracting processes, physician alignment strategies, and self-disclosures (in coordination with the Legal Department/counsel) may be made. Renown will implement a follow-up audit process to ensure all identified issues are thoroughly addressed in a timely manner. Any needed education based on audit results will be provided in a timely manner and documented.

VII. Reporting Compliance Concerns

Compliance is every employee's responsibility. Renown encourages and actively maintains open lines of communication between its employees, the Compliance Liaisons, and the Chief Compliance Officer. Employees are the eyes and ears of the organization and are often aware of potential compliance concerns. To encourage employees to come forward with their concerns, Renown's Compliance Department has an "open-door policy." Additionally, multiple lines of communication have been established and are always available. Finally, Renown has a robust Non-Retaliation policy for reporting compliance concerns.

Employees are responsible for ensuring their work activities comply with applicable laws, regulations and policies, and for reporting any suspected acts of noncompliance. Any individual found to have knowledge of an act of noncompliance but who failed to report it will be subject to disciplinary action.

Employees may notify their supervisor, manager, Compliance Liaison or the Chief Compliance Officer at 775-982-5596 directly of any concerns. Employees can also report a concern using the Confidential Reporting Form found on the Corporate Compliance website on Inside Renown. Alternatively, the employee may use the Compliance and Ethics Hotline 800-611-5097 to report their concerns anonymously. Every effort will be made to preserve the anonymity of the individual reporting the concern. However, employees must understand that circumstances may arise in the course of an investigation in which their identity may become known.

Renown has a Non-Retaliation policy that strictly prohibits retaliation against anyone reporting a concern in good faith. Anyone found to have committed a retaliatory act will be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment.

VIII. Responding to Detected Offenses and Implementing Corrective Action

All reports or reasonable indications of fraud, waste or abuse, violations of other applicable laws or regulations, or violations of Renown policy will be promptly investigated. The results of an investigation may identify the need for additional training, corrective action, and/or implementation of additional procedures to ensure future compliance.

Upon receipt of a reported compliance concern, the Chief Compliance Officer or his/her designee will investigate to determine whether any conduct inconsistent with Renown policy or in violation of law occurred. The Chief Compliance Officer may consult with Renown leadership, General Counsel or external consultants in the course of an investigation to obtain expertise or advice. The Chief Compliance Officer may also conduct interviews of employees or review documents to determine whether a violation has occurred.

If a violation is found to have occurred, the Chief Compliance Officer will consult with Human Resources and General Counsel, as appropriate, to determine the most appropriate course of action. A summary of all compliance reports, any subsequent investigations, and their resolutions will be reported to the Audit and Compliance Committee. Any confirmed reports of a compliance violation and all subsequent follow up will be reported to the Board.

IX. Enforcement and Discipline

Renown may subject an employee who intentionally or unintentionally violates a law, regulation or established policy to disciplinary action. Employees may also be subject to disciplinary action for failure to report a suspected violation. Disciplinary actions may include, but are not limited to, the loss of privileges, contract penalties, suspension or termination of employment, and in some cases, civil and/or criminal prosecution. All possible disciplinary actions will be taken in accordance with Renown disciplinary guidelines.

X. Risk Assessment

Maintaining a robust, effective compliance program requires continuous assessment of compliance risks and identification of areas for improvement. The Chief Compliance Officer, Audit and Compliance Steering Committee, and the Audit and Compliance Committee will continuously monitor and assess the state of the Program to ensure it is operating at the highest level.

Additionally, Renown will conduct an annual risk assessment to identify the areas that present the highest risk to the organization and develop an annual Work Plan. The risk assessment will include, but is not limited to, review of the annual OIG Work Plan, analysis of recent government enforcement trends, and review of concerns identified internally by the Chief Compliance Officer and the Audit and Compliance Steering Committee. The Chief Compliance Officer will oversee interviews of key personnel to ensure all pertinent information is obtained to evaluate the level of risk presented by each identified risk item.

The Work Plan will document both operational and audit areas of focus. For each area of focus, the Work Plan will include the reason for concern identified with that area of focus, a timeframe for completion of the audit or review, and the party responsible for completing the audit or review. The Work Plan will be reviewed and approved by the Audit and Compliance Committee and forwarded to the Board for final approval. The Chief Compliance Officer will be responsible for providing periodic updates to the Audit and Compliance Committee and an annual summary to the Board.

XI. Compliance Program Effectiveness

The Program is intended to be flexible and readily adaptable to changes in regulatory requirements and in the healthcare system as a whole. This Compliance Program Document shall be reviewed and modified, as necessary. Additionally, the effectiveness of the Program will be reviewed on an as needed basis based on major revisions by the Chief Compliance Officer, the Audit and Compliance Committee and the Board.

Regarding Compliance Program effectiveness, HCCA and the OIG have published a document titled “Measuring Compliance Program Effectiveness: A Resource Guide.” Additionally, the U.S. Department of Justice has published and regularly updates a document titled “Evaluation of Corporate Compliance Programs.” These two resources provide essential roadmaps for Renown Health’s evaluation of the effectiveness of its Compliance Program. The following three general questions should guide any inquiry into a compliance initiative’s effectiveness:

1. Is the compliance program well designed?
2. Is the program being applied earnestly and in good faith? I.e., is the program adequately resourced and empowered to function effectively?
3. Does the compliance program work in practice?

XII. Self-Reporting

If credible evidence of misconduct is discovered and, after reasonable inquiry, it is determined that the misconduct may have resulted in a violation of criminal, civil, or administrative law, the legal office/counsel shall be contacted promptly to determine self-reporting requirements and appropriate next steps.

RENOWN CODE OF CONDUCT

I. Introduction

The purpose of the Code of Conduct is to serve as an ongoing reminder to all employees of our commitment to excellence and provide guidance on conducting business and patient care activities with integrity and in compliance with all applicable laws. The Code of Conduct sets forth Renown's expectations for the conduct of all employees. It is each employee's responsibility to be familiar with and abide by the standards set forth in the Code of Conduct and all other Renown policies and procedures. The Code of Conduct cannot address every possible circumstance or situation you may encounter in performing your duties; you are expected to use good judgment and consult your supervisor or the Chief Compliance Officer when appropriate.

II. Duty to Report

Compliance is every employee's responsibility. As a Renown employee, you play an important role in ensuring that all Renown activities are performed in compliance with all applicable laws, regulations, standards, policies and procedures. Renown encourages you to ask questions or seek clarification, when needed, to better understand your compliance responsibilities. If you discover a problem or suspect an inappropriate practice is occurring, it is your duty to report your concerns to your supervisor, the Chief Compliance Officer at 775-982-5596, the Compliance Liaison, or by calling the Compliance Hotline at 800-611-5097. Employees also can report a concern using the Confidential Reporting Form. This Form can be found on the Corporate Compliance Department page on Inside Renown. When reporting your concerns, you may choose to remain anonymous. During an investigation, your anonymity and the confidentiality of any information you provide will be protected to the extent reasonably possible.

Renown is committed to doing the right thing and will not tolerate any form of retaliation or acts of retribution against an employee who, in good faith, reports suspected wrongdoing or a potential compliance violation. The Renown Non-Retaliation Policy prohibits retaliation or retribution and provides for disciplinary sanctions against any individual who violates the policy.

III. Compliance Code of Conduct

Standard 1: Compliance with Laws and Regulations

Healthcare is a highly regulated business that requires compliance with many federal and state laws and regulations. It is important to stay informed and be diligent about the work you perform. Renown provides many opportunities for learning and retention of important compliance information. It is your duty to be aware of potential risks, to work within the confines of the law and Renown's policies, and to report any suspected wrongdoing or potential violations.

- Fraud, Waste and Abuse - There are several state and federal laws that govern the conduct of health care providers. These laws provide guidelines for the provision of care, appropriate claim submission, and relationships between health care providers. Some of the laws that address activities that could constitute fraud include the False Claims Act, the Anti-Kickback Statute, and the Stark Law.
 - Anti-Kickback Statute - The Anti-Kickback Statute is a federal law which imposes criminal and, particularly in association with the federal False Claims Act, civil liability on those that knowingly and willfully offer, solicit, receive, or pay any form of remuneration in exchange for the referral of services or products covered by any federal healthcare program (i.e., Medicare and Medicaid). Neither Renown nor its employees may offer, give or receive anything of value or provide "rewards" in exchange for referrals from other businesses or providers. Bribes or kickbacks of any kind are strictly prohibited.
 - False Claims Act (FCA) and Fraud Enforcement and Recovery Act of 2009 (FERA) - FCA and FERA prohibit anyone from submitting claims they know, or should know, are false or misleading to the government or other third party payors. It is important to completely and accurately document all services rendered. Claims should only be submitted when there is sufficient documentation in the medical record to support billing the service. An employee should never submit a claim for a service that he/she knows was not provided, was provided at a lower level than coded, or was not medically necessary. If you believe a claim is inaccurate, it is your responsibility to fix the claim or report it to your supervisor prior to the claim being submitted to the payor.
 - Physician Self-Referral (Stark) Law - The Stark law prohibits referrals when a financial relationship exists between the provider (or his/her immediate family member) and the entity, unless an approved exception is met. The Stark law applies to doctors of medicine and osteopathy, dentists and oral surgeons, optometrists, chiropractors, and their immediate family members. Renown providers may not refer a patient for designated health services payable by Medicare or Medicaid to an entity with which the provider has ownership, an investment interest or a compensation arrangement unless an exception is met.
- Government Investigations - A government investigation does not necessarily indicate that wrongdoing has occurred. Renown is committed to compliance with all laws and regulations, including appropriate cooperation with any government investigations. If you are approached by a government official or receive a subpoena or other legal inquiry, you should immediately notify the Chief Compliance Officer. The Chief Compliance Officer will coordinate Renown's response to the inquiry and involve General Counsel when appropriate. For additional information about your rights and responsibilities in a government investigation, please refer to the Renown Government Investigations policy.

- Tax Status - Renown has received tax-exempt status from the Internal Revenue Service for many of its lines of business. When Renown is a tax-exempt entity, Renown is required to follow specific rules and regulations relating to provision of services for charitable purposes, payment for goods and services, and other financial considerations. Transactions entered into must be in the best interest of Renown and negotiated at arms-length for fair market value. Employees must not use Renown resources or property for any private use or private gain.
- Antitrust - All Renown employees must comply with applicable federal and state antitrust laws regulating competition. Conduct prohibited by such laws include, but are not limited to, price-fixing, boycotts, price discrimination agreements, bribery, deception, or intimidation. An employee faced with a situation that appears questionable should consult with his/her supervisor or the Renown Chief Compliance Officer. Any suspected violations of law should be reported to the Chief Compliance Officer immediately.
- Exclusion List- Renown will not employ or do business with any person or business who appears on any federal or state government exclusion list. Any existing relationship will be terminated upon discovery of the business or individual being excluded.

Standard 2: Quality of Care

Renown is committed to providing high quality, medically necessary care to all patients. Renown will provide a safe health care environment for all employees, patients, families and visitors.

All patients are to be treated equally with dignity and respect regardless of their ability to pay. When possible, patients should be involved in medical decisions and the plan of care. Team members should strive to always act in the best interest of the patient, provide compassionate care and to provide the appropriate level of care. Renown's health care provider shall perform medically necessary services in the safest, most effective manner. Proper documentation of all services rendered is critically important to maintaining high quality of care that is in line with accreditation standards.

Renown will provide emergency treatment in accordance with the Emergency Medical Treatment and Active Labor Act ("EMTALA") regardless of the individual's ability to pay. An emergency medical screening examination and any necessary stabilizing treatment will be provided to all patients seeking emergency treatment.

Standard 3: Workplace Conduct and Employment Practices

Each employee has the right to work in an environment free of disruptive behavior, harassment or discrimination.

- Safe Workplace - Renown is committed to providing a work environment that is safe and free from physical harm and has a zero tolerance policy for violence in the workplace. Renown employees are responsible for creating and maintaining a safe environment for all employees, patients, and visitors. All reports of possible workplace violence will be taken seriously and will be investigated and resolved promptly.
- Harassment - No form of harassment will be permitted. Harassment includes any verbal, nonverbal or physical conduct intended to intimidate or threaten another individual. Verbal harassment includes an offensive or unwelcome comment about the individual's gender, sexual orientation, race, religion, nationality, age or disability. Nonverbal harassment includes distribution or display of graphic or potentially offensive materials. Any allegation of harassment will be promptly investigated in accordance with Renown Human Resources policies.
- Discrimination - Renown believes in the fair treatment of all employees. It is a policy of Renown to treat employees, without regard to the race, color, religion, gender, ethnic origin, age or disability of such person, sexual orientation or any other classification prohibited by law. It is a policy of Renown to recruit, hire, train, promote, assign, transfer, layoff, recall, and terminate employees based on their own ability, achievement, experience and conduct, without regard to race, color, religion, gender, ethnic origin, age or disability, sexual orientation or any other classification prohibited by law. Any allegation of discrimination will be promptly investigated in accordance with Renown Human Resources policies.

Standard 4: Privacy and Confidentiality

The protection of patient privacy and the confidentiality of information created and/or obtained in the course of Renown business are of the utmost importance. It is your duty to use this information responsibly and to report any potential breaches to your supervisor, the Chief Compliance Officer at 775-982-5596, Compliance Liaisons, the Confidential Reporting Form found on the Corporate Compliance Department page on Inside Renown, or the Compliance Hotline at 800-611-5097.

- Protected Health Information - Due to the nature of our business, we have access to personal information about our patients' health. It is our responsibility to safeguard this information in accordance with the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act ("HIPAA") of 1996. You may only access, use, or disclose a patient's protected health information ("PHI") as needed to perform your job duties. Please refer to Renown's HIPAA policies and procedures to fully understand patient rights and your responsibilities with respect to PHI and HIPAA.

- Personal Information - Personal employee information, including salary, benefits and personnel file information, is treated as confidential and should only be accessed and/or used when appropriate for Renown business purposes.
- Proprietary Information - Confidential information about Renown business or operations, such as financial information, business strategy, or other proprietary information, should not be shared unless there is a valid business purpose. Employees may not utilize inside information for any business activity conducted by or on behalf of Renown. Information, ideas and intellectual property assets are important to organizational success. Employees should exercise care to ensure that intellectual property rights, such as patents, trademarks, copyrights and software, are carefully maintained and managed to preserve and protect their value. If you have questions about whether information you have received is proprietary and confidential, please contact the Chief Compliance Officer. If you receive a request from the media, please decline comment and refer them to the Renown media contact.
- Security - All employees are responsible for the appropriate use of the security measures at their disposal, including confidential login credentials, passwords, access badges, and/or keys. Renown's security policies and procedures detail the guidelines for using and safeguarding system identification and passwords as well as physical access to secure areas. All communication systems, including, but not limited to, personal computers, printers/copiers, electronic mail, Intranet, Internet access, telephone and voicemail, are the property of Renown; users should assume these communications are not private.
- Social Media - Social media presents a special challenge for health care providers. You are expected to use social media, such as Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn, etc., responsibly and in compliance with the Renown policies and procedures related to privacy, confidentiality and security. Never post patient information or photographs to a web site or social media page.

Standard 5: Business and Personal Conduct

Renown is committed to conducting business in a professional and ethical manner. Employees are expected to act in the best interest of Renown; interactions with patients, visitors, colleagues, and business partners should reflect Renown's values and standards. Inappropriate or disruptive conduct will not be tolerated and will be subject to Renown's disciplinary guidelines.

- Conflicts of Interest - Employees are expected to act in the best interest of Renown and its patients at all times. Employees may not use their position or knowledge as a Renown employee for personal gain. A conflict of interest may exist if an employee has a relationship or a personal interest that affects, or may affect, his/her job performance or ability to make a decision related to Renown or its patients. It is the employee's responsibility to disclose any potential conflict of interest to Renown. The Renown Conflict of Interest policy provides guidance as to what may constitute a conflict of interest and who is responsible for disclosing potential conflicts.

- Gifts and Gratuities - Renown prohibits employees from receiving gifts or gratuities from patients and families. Gifts and gratuities may include cash, gift cards, services, entertainment, or anything of value. Employees are also prohibited from accepting gifts, services, entertainment, or other things of value to the extent that decision-making or actions affecting Renown might be influenced. If a patient wishes to present a monetary gift, he/she should be referred to the Renown Foundation. Please refer to the Renown Gifts, Gratuities and Business Courtesies policy for additional guidance on monetary tips or gratuities.
- Outside Activities - Employees must not engage in outside activities during working hours. Use of hospital equipment, including computers, supplies or information in connection with any outside activity is prohibited. Self-employment or employment by others is permissible only if it does not adversely affect the employee's job performance for Renown Health or create a conflict with Renown Health. An employee of Renown Health must not become an officer or director of, or accept a position of responsibility with, any other company in competition with Renown without the approval of his or her supervisor.
- Educational Programs - Employees are, with the permission of their supervisor, encouraged to participate as faculty and speakers at educational programs and functions. If the employee uses personal time to prepare and provide the presentation, the employee may keep the honoraria as long as it does not create a conflict of interest. If the preparation and presentation occurs during work hours, the honoraria are to be turned over to Renown Health.
- Family Members - No employee may be hired or promoted where the results will be that an employee will directly supervise a member of his or her own family.

Professional boundaries - Employees are expected to maintain professional boundaries with patients. Employees are not permitted to enter into romantic relationships with patients they are treating. Employees will also avoid engaging in behaviors such as keeping secrets for patients, behavior that may be viewed as flirting with patients, or sharing intimate/personal information with patients that is unrelated to the patient's care.

Standard 6: Financial Reporting

It is important to utilize Renown's assets and resources in the most efficient and effective manner. Documentation and reporting of Renown's financial information, including the use of tax-exempt earnings, should be complete and accurate. Renown is responsible for timely and accurate submission of any required reports to regulatory agencies. Failure to maintain appropriate records may result in financial, legal and/or reputational harm to Renown.

Standard 7: Government Relations and Political Activities

Renown must comply with all laws and regulations governing participation in government relations and political activities.
