

At A Glance: Community Advisory Committee

The Community Advisory Committee helps

connect

Renown to the communities we serve.

As the only

locally-governed

not-for-profit hospital in Reno, community input is essential.

What does the committee do?

- Learn about programs and services
- Share knowledge about the strength and services of Renown Health
- Help create awareness and pride in the communities we serve
- Provide feedback

Renown has more than 150 community

citizens

participating on boards or in advisory capacities.

Responsibilities of the committee:

advocacy
in the community

feedback
to the board of directors

What's in it for them?

Community
service

Opportunity to learn about region's largest private employer

great networking
opportunity

And it's fun!

Committee members come from a diverse cross section of industries:

Local Governance

is about community citizens being involved with all aspects of their healthcare network. It's about keeping care at home and making the right decisions for our friends and family in the community.
